

SUBSCRIBERS LEAVING TOWN WILL RECEIVE "THE TIMES" BY MAIL, UPON NOTIFYING THE CARRIERS OR BUSINESS OFFICE.

The Times.

RICHMOND, VA., SATURDAY, JUNE 28, 1890.

VOL. IV.—NUMBER 1,402.

PRICE: TWO CENTS.

THE NEWS SUMMARY.

Forecast for Virginia: Fair and cooler, stationary on the coast.

The Virginians and Old Dominion play ball this afternoon.—The remains of Judge E. H. Elliott will be interred today.

The census canvassers turned in 1,600 names—Cars are to be run over Massachusetts this summer.—Mass meetings were held and members of the City Democratic Committee were elected.—Divine service will be held in St. John's Church on the 4th of July.

Postal Clerk Watson, who was missing

Thursday, reached Lynchburg and told a tale of a strange accident to him.—Two small wrecks occurred on the Norfolk and Western Railroad.—Mr. J. O. Thompson, an old tobacconist, died at Lynchburg.—Mr. W.

L. Arnell was run over at Warminster.

The Lynchburg Gun Club will have a gun tournament on July 4th.—Danville's new

City council will meet Tuesday evening.

Wytheville, won the medal, with Private George O'Connor, of Washington, next.

The last of the public schools closed today.

The City Auditor is making up his annual statement for the prison, which will show that the total amount for the year amounted to $127,561.33. These are the largest amounts that have appeared for many years.

The expenses were $122,504.43, leaving a balance of $4,056.90. This balance has since been applied to the payment of the account of $10,000 borrowed by the city some time ago.

The street improvements during the year cost $15,000. It is assumed that these improvements will pay back into the treasury $7,000.

The amount to be recovered from taxes during the year upon which we have just entered may fall much below that which we have just passed.

The committee thinks it is best to assume that the figures $100,000 will not be realized, so careful expenditure will be used.

The statement of the commissioners of the sinking fund shows the bonded debt of the city at $24,330, unfunded debt, $8,493 and temporary loans, $10,000—making $42,823. The sinking fund amounts to $84,970.

Mr. James H. Reid, son of Colonel Reid, is spending his birthday at home today.

Mr. E. M. Adams, whose injury was mentioned in THE TIMES, is slightly improving.

The venerable Mr. M. Moran, of London, is dead.

Coney's old place well known to old residents and transients for its cuisine and its beer has been occupied by one of the boys who was associated with old Joe in the running of the place years ago. Last night there was a blow out here.

Miss Mattie McLean, daughter of Mr. William McLean, who died in Richmond while his wife had been living where she spent her childhood. She was a lady of many accomplishments and fine traits of character. The remains were brought here yesterday morning and buried with Mrs. Wm. Zieglerman, a friend, who had been a colored woman.

Mr. McLean lived at Manassas and in the first battle, he and his family were forced to fly from their home, which was being riddled with bullets of the confederate enemis.

An apprentice of their house was the place of the consultation.

Nearly all the sheet-metal workers in town have been engaged in making street mail boxes for newspapers and packages lately.

Mr. J. M. Hill got the contract for making the boxes for the post office for several thousand dollars.

Two freight-train wrecks on the Norfolk

and Western took place yesterday evening

one near Bedford and the other four miles

from this city. Several cars were

badly damaged, but no lives were lost.

The limb of a tree which fell across the

train was cut off and the iron bent back

so that the train could pass over it.

Two freight-train wrecks on the Norfolk

and Western took place yesterday evening

one near Bedford and the other four miles

from this city. Several cars were

badly damaged, but no lives were lost.

The limb of a tree which fell across the

train was cut off and the iron bent back

so that the train could pass over it.

Two freight-train wrecks on the Norfolk

and Western took place yesterday evening

one near Bedford and the other four miles

from this city. Several cars were

badly damaged, but no lives were lost.

The limb of a tree which fell across the

train was cut off and the iron bent back

so that the train could pass over it.

Two freight-train wrecks on the Norfolk

and Western took place yesterday evening

one near Bedford and the other four miles

from this city. Several cars were

badly damaged, but no lives were lost.

The limb of a tree which fell across the

train was cut off and the iron bent back

so that the train could pass over it.

Two freight-train wrecks on the Norfolk

and Western took place yesterday evening

one near Bedford and the other four miles

from this city. Several cars were

badly damaged, but no lives were lost.

The limb of a tree which fell across the

train was cut off and the iron bent back

so that the train could pass over it.

Two freight-train wrecks on the Norfolk

and Western took place yesterday evening

one near Bedford and the other four miles

from this city. Several cars were

badly damaged, but no lives were lost.

The limb of a tree which fell across the

train was cut off and the iron bent back

so that the train could pass over it.

Two freight-train wrecks on the Norfolk

and Western took place yesterday evening

one near Bedford and the other four miles

from this city. Several cars were

badly damaged, but no lives were lost.

The limb of a tree which fell across the

train was cut off and the iron bent back

so that the train could pass over it.

Two freight-train wrecks on the Norfolk

and Western took place yesterday evening

one near Bedford and the other four miles

from this city. Several cars were

badly damaged, but no lives were lost.

The limb of a tree which fell across the

train was cut off and the iron bent back

so that the train could pass over it.

Two freight-train wrecks on the Norfolk

and Western took place yesterday evening

one near Bedford and the other four miles

from this city. Several cars were

badly damaged, but no lives were lost.

The limb of a tree which fell across the

train was cut off and the iron bent back

so that the train could pass over it.

Two freight-train wrecks on the Norfolk

and Western took place yesterday evening

one near Bedford and the other four miles

from this city. Several cars were

badly damaged, but no lives were lost.

The limb of a tree which fell across the

train was cut off and the iron bent back

so that the train could pass over it.

Two freight-train wrecks on the Norfolk

and Western took place yesterday evening

one near Bedford and the other four miles

from this city. Several cars were

badly damaged, but no lives were lost.

The limb of a tree which fell across the

train was cut off and the iron bent back

so that the train could pass over it.

Two freight-train wrecks on the Norfolk

and Western took place yesterday evening

one near Bedford and the other four miles

from this city. Several cars were

badly damaged, but no lives were lost.

The limb of a tree which fell across the

train was cut off and the iron bent back

so that the train could pass over it.

Two freight-train wrecks on the Norfolk

and Western took place yesterday evening

one near Bedford and the other four miles

from this city. Several cars were

badly damaged, but no lives were lost.

The limb of a tree which fell across the

train was cut off and the iron bent back

so that the train could pass over it.

Two freight-train wrecks on the Norfolk

and Western took place yesterday evening

one near Bedford and the other four miles

from this city. Several cars were

badly damaged, but no lives were lost.

The limb of a tree which fell across the

train was cut off and the iron bent back